DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1 to 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

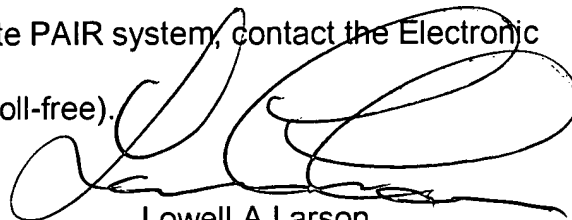

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors. For example, it is not clear how the "horizontal cylinder" is included in the "embedding structure", as required in Claim 1, line 6, and no clear disclosure is found of the "C and opposite C" sliding surfaces at the end of Claim 1 or of the "further" rolling cylinders recited in Claim 4. In Claim 5 it is not clear what would constitute screws "pivoted in couple", and no clear disclosure is found the "gaskets" recited in Claim 6.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Forni, Poloni et al. and Tingvall show the state of the art.
